MONTHLY COMMENTARY AS AT 30 NOVEMBER 2017

The FTSE EPRA/NAREIT Developed Rental Index recorded a net total USD return of 3.12% in November. The best performing listed real estate market was Hong Kong, which recorded a total USD return of 6.84%. The U.K. recorded the lowest total USD return for November of 2.06%.

It's been a busy few weeks for global real estate retail stocks amid a flurry of corporate activity announcements and asset transactions. In the United States, Brookfield made a bid to take GGP private by acquiring the 66% outstanding shares of GGP that it does not already own. The offer price on the day of $23, which will be paid by a combination of cash and shares in Brookfield Property Partners (BPY), is at a substantial discount to BPY's IFRS valuation for GGP of $29/share. The offer implies a cap rate of 5.9%. It will be interesting to see if Brookfield increase their offer price for GGP as they have done in the past for other majority bids. Activist investors also made the headlines with both Elliot Management reporting a stake in Taubman and Third Point and Starboard Value reporting stakes in Macerich. These three stocks each returned over 20% in USD for November on the back of these headlines.

Across the pond in Europe, Hammerson made an all-share offer for Intu. The combination of these two companies will form a high-quality portfolio, consisting predominantly of UK shopping centres.

In Australia, AMP Capital, an institutional investor, purchased a 50% stake in Indooroopilly, a regional prime shopping centre in Brisbane for AU$800 million. This is the largest retail mall transaction to have occurred in Australia since 2002 and is at a reported cap rate of 4.25%. Pricing appears to be in line with similar deals that have transacted over the last year and with limited asset deals in the region of late, the transaction will be an important pricing point.

In Hong Kong, Link REIT disposed of a portfolio of 17 retail assets for HK$23bn, which reflects a yield of 2.8% and a 52% premium over the 30 September 2017 appraisal value. This deal, which is the largest transaction and asset premium ever obtained by Link, indicates the strong demand from investors for locally focussed necessity (versus discretionary) retail assets in Hong Kong. This proves that steep prices can be fetched for retail assets that lack some of the headwinds which haunt many retail assets elsewhere in the globe, such as the risks faced by discretionary retail from e-commerce and the demand for experiences over physical goods.

Due to the lag effect of long term leases and solid operating fundamentals, medium term earnings growth prospects for global real estate stocks as a whole remain relatively robust. Listed real estate currently trades at an estimated forward FAD (Funds Available for Distribution) yield of 4.74%. Considering current global real estate market fundamentals, current pricing appears about fairly valued on a long-term risk-adjusted basis.
